

Abstract

This invention involves the addition of antistatic agents to the melt of spunbonded processes to improve fabric uniformity and reduce fabric defects.